

ManEx Minute

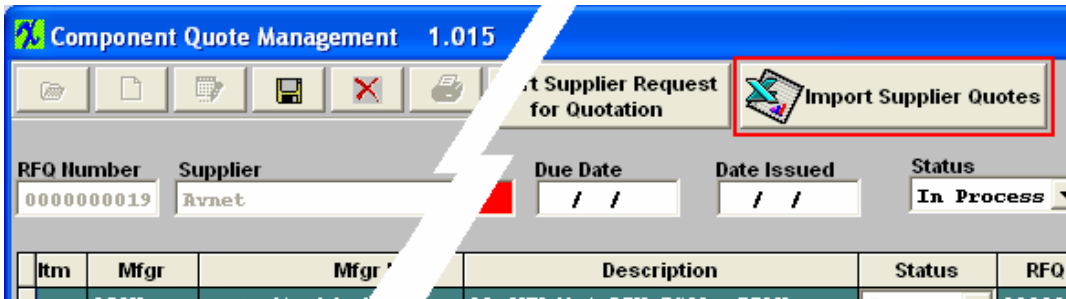

Take a minute to save time with ManEx.

Dear Valued Customer,

Did you know that ManEx will allow you to export a vendor RFQ to excel and import the vendors response from excel back into ManEx?

After creating the quote in ManEx and transferring the parts to the Component Quote Manager, users are able to quickly create an excel file to send to vendors for quoting. Among other things, this file contains price breaks, manufacturer part numbers, and may also contain the customer name for contract pricing.

Once the vendors have return the excel file populated with the pricing and lead-time information, users are able to import the data directly into ManEx. This automated process reduces labor and data entry errors. Additionally, users are able to reference the RFQ number with the provided excel file for auditing and verification purposes.

To learn more of the great features in this module, please refer to the Customer Quotation Manual.

This is just another way we are developing ManEx with YOU in mind.

Sincerely,

David Sharp
